

I have never subscribed to cable service because I am not interested in any of the package deals offered. I would, however be willing to pay for specific channels IF they were offered as stand a lone options.